Training at the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin

Szkolenie na KUL

On 23 January 2024, a TPCoE expert conducted a training course on terrorist prevention for the staff of the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin.

During the lecture, the role of information in the context of building an organisation's security policy was presented, including issues related to the vulnerability of persons and facilities to unauthorised interference by state actors and extremist-terrorist organisations.

At the same time, the subject of the meeting were recommended actions that should be taken following careless exploitation of social media, as well as hostile so-called insider activity within the organisation.

The training was part of the promotion of good security practices among the academic staff and administrative staff of the university, the application of which is recommended in the context of information and terrorist threats.
