Training series for Ministry of Interior and Administration officials

In November and December 2024, CAT expert ABW conducted training courses on building security policies against information threats.

The events were part of the promotion of knowledge on contemporary threats caused by hostile actions in the information area.

During the meeting, selected aspects of counter-intelligence prevention were presented. In this context, a characterisation of threats caused by state actors was made, where the main emphasis was placed on issues concerning the sources of information threats, the causes of their emergence and ways of dealing with their consequences. The problem of information advantage and the difficulty of access to reliable information in terms of building a positive image of the entity and the uninterrupted operation of the institution was also presented.
